art_prompt	A Poliwhirl stands in a rain-slick clearing studying spirals in puddles and the pattern on its own belly, while a faint glow around it hints at insight gained through evolution. The mood should be observant and intelligent rather than aggressive. Cel-anime style, no humans, no text.	Landscape fantasy TCG illustration, approximately 1.6:1 aspect ratio. Feature Abra, faithful to its canonical Generation I design: a small yellow psychic Pokémon with brown shoulder and leg pads, closed eyes, pointed ears, and a foxlike body. Show Abra in the foreground as a small, fragile-looking but intensely psychic presence, seated or crouched in a calm, focused pose with its eyes closed, as though quietly channeling power far beyond its size. Depict the moment of its enter-the-battlefield effect by showing a large Mr. Mime being psychically conjured into existence behind Abra on the background of the image, faithful to its canonical Generation I design: humanoid body, pink and cream coloration, blue horn-like hair, round joints, white glove-like hands, and its unmistakable mime-like stance and expression. Mr. Mime should feel substantial and protective, as though Abra has

		summoned an oversized psychic companion to defend it. Make the size contrast clear: Abra is tiny and vulnerable, while Mr. Mime is larger, imposing, and visually dominant without stealing the scene completely. Use swirling psychic energy, shimmering barriers, floating geometric light-shapes, and rippling illusion-like distortions to connect the two Pokémon, suggesting that Mr. Mime is being formed out of psychic force and invisible walls. The setting should reinforce the strange, performative, psychic nature of the moment: a dreamlike environment that feels halfway between a mystical battlefield and a surreal stage, with subtle spotlighting, warped perspective, and an atmosphere of uncanny magical performance. Style: surreal theatrical gouache illustration. Use painterly gouache textures, soft but saturated color fields, dramatic stage-like lighting, expressive shapes, and a slightly whimsical but eerie storybook tone. The composition should feel imaginative, strange, and memorable, with a strong sense of magical spectacle. 		should not distract from the main subject, but should meaningfully support the composition and the theme of pack leadership. Accentuate the moment with wisps, curls, and trailing ribbons of fire drifting from Arcanine’s fur, especially from the mane, tail, and shoulders, as though it has just shaken itself and scattered embers and living flame into the air. The fire should feel graceful and dynamic rather than chaotic: glowing sparks, curling tongues of flame, and warm heat shimmer surrounding its body and framing the pose. Let some of this fiery atmosphere subtly echo through the environment, creating a sense that the whole pack is moving within Arcanine’s aura. Style: Art Nouveau fantasy illustration. Use elegant flowing linework, ornamental curves, decorative flame motifs, and a richly composed natural environment with a refined, painterly finish. The scene should feel mythic, luminous, and regal, with stylized organic forms and a strong sense of hierarchy in the composition. Keep Arcanine and Growlithe faithful to their canonical Generation I appearance, with clear action readability, a fully illustrated environment, no written text, no logos, and no card frame.
